Area Trends in Employment and Unemployment contains the official list of labor surplus areas as classified by the Department of Labor. These are areas in which employers are eligible for preference in bidding on certain Federal contracts. The purpose of designating labor surplus areas is to put the Federal Government's procurement dollars into areas of high unemployment. The authority for carrying out such classifications of labor surplus areas stems from Defense Manpower Policy No. 4B (DMP-4B), Executive Order 10582 (implementing the Buy American Act), and Executive Order 12073 (Federal Procurement in Labor Surplus Areas).

This issue of the publication contains the new list of labor surplus areas, effective for the 12 month period of June 1, 1980 to May 31, 1981. To this list have been added 37 areas effective August 1, 1980, 19 areas effective October 1, 1980 and 12 areas effective December 1, 1980. The total number of labor surplus areas now totals 1,081. In addition this publication also provides summary labor force data on major labor areas as well as a classification of these areas according to the adequacy of labor supply.

Descriptions of the program for which areas are eligible on the basis of high unemployment and the criteria used in determining such eligibility as well as a listing of the eligible areas are provided in the section "Eligible Labor Surplus Areas for Bidding on Federal Contracts Under Defense Manpower Policy No 4B (DMP-4B) and Executive Orders 10582 and 12073."

A description of the criteria used by the Department in classifying major labor areas according to the adequacy of labor supply is provided in the section "Labor Supply Classifications and Summary Labor Force Data for Major Labor Areas."

Requests for copies of Area Trends, changes or additions to the mailing list, and further information on its contents should be addressed to:

Eligible Labor Surplus Areas for Bidding On Federal Contracts Under Defense Manpower Policy No. 4B (DMP-4B) And Executive Orders 10582 and 12073

Background

Employers located in eligible labor surplus areas, as determined by the Department of Labor, and who meet other criteria, are entitled to preference in bidding on Federal procurement contracts. The criteria used in determining eligible labor surplus areas implement amendments to the Small Business Act (PL 95-89) as well as Defense Manpower Policy No. 4B, Executive Order 10582 (implementing the Buy American Act) and Executive Order 12073 (Federal Procurement in Labor Surplus Areas). The purpose of the labor surplus area procurement preference is to help guide a portion of the government's procurement dollars into those areas where people are in most severe economic need, e.g., areas with the highest unemployment.

Classification Criteria

Under the classification procedures, an area is classified as a labor surplus area if the unemployment rate is at least 1.20 times the national unemployment rate during the previous two calendar years.

In addition, a "floor" and "ceiling" unemployment rate of 6 percent and 10 percent, respectively, is also continued. The "floor" is established in order to assure that during periods of low unemployment, only those areas with recognized high unemployment will be classified as labor surplus areas. The "ceiling" concept is established in order to assure procurement preference to areas of high unemployment during periods when the national unemployment rate is also very high.

The "floor" concept would become operative whenever the national unemployment rate during the reference period drops below 5.0 percent (i.e., 5.0 times 1.20 equals the 6.0 "floor"); the "ceiling" concept would become effective whenever the national unemployment rate during the reference period rises to 8.3 percent or more (i.e., 8.3 times 1.20 equals the 10.0 "ceiling").

The classification procedures also provide for the classification on the basis of exceptional circumstances. Under these procedures, if an area does not meet the criteria necessary for classification as a labor surplus area, the criteria can be waived and the area classified when there has been a sudden rise in the unemployment in the area (other than seasonal or short term) that is not reflected in the area's data for the reference period. Such situations can occur as a result of natural disasters, plant closings of major employers, etc. which have a substantial impact on the area's employment and unemployment. In situations where such exceptional circumstances occur, the area can be classified as a labor surplus area upon petition from the appropriate State employment security agency.

Until October 1, 1981, the Assistant Secretary for Employment and Training shall make determinations of unemployment rates, in classifying labor surplus areas, for those jurisdictions in Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSAs) for which Current Population Survey (CPS) data were used to determine annual unemployment data prior to January 1, 1978. The intent of this is to assure that the eligibility of such areas is not immediately affected adversely by the change in the unemployment estimating procedures involving the discontinuation of separate CPS estimates for these areas.

Labor surplus areas are defined on the basis of discrete civil jurisdictions, i.e., counties, county equivalents, and cities with a population of at least 50,000. In 4 States (Michigan, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania), townships of 50,000 or more population are also eligible for classification as labor surplus areas. In New England, the labor surplus area classifications for Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont are based on county data while in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the classifications use towns as county equivalents. By classifying labor surplus areas in this way, i.e., in terms of civil jurisdictions rather than labor market areas, funds can be directed to specific localities with high unemployment rather than to all jurisdictions in a given metropolitan area, not all of which may suffer from the same degree of unemployment.

The reference period used in making the classification is an average of the previous two calendar years. By using an average of 24 months of data in place of the previous 12 month moving average, contracts can be targeted into areas experiencing high structural unemployment.

Eligibility Determined Annually

The eligibility status of labor surplus areas is determined annually under the classification procedures. The annual listings are effective each June 1 and remain in effect for the following 12 months.

The national average unemployment rate during the 24-month reference period used in classifying the current list of labor surplus areas (i.e., the period from January 1978 through December 1979) was 6.0 percent. Areas were included in the annual listing if their average unemployment rate during the reference period was 7.2 percent or more (i.e., 1.20 times the national rate). The initial list of 1,013 eligible labor surplus areas became effective June 1, 1980 and will remain in effect through May 31, 1981.

Subsequent to the initial list of labor surplus areas issued on June 1, thirty-seven additional labor surplus areas were added to the list on the basis of exceptional circumstances criteria. These were added effective August 1, 1980 and are listed below:

Labor Supply Classifications and Summary Labor Force Data for Major Labor Areas, Third Quarter 1980

Labor Supply Categories

Each quarter the Department of Labor classifies 150 major employment centers according to the adequacy of their labor supply. A letter classification code, shown below, is assigned to each of these 150 areas.

Labor Supply Category	Description	Unemployment Rate ^{1/}
Group A	Excessive labor shortage	Less than 1.5%
Group B	Serious labor shortage	1.5 to 2.9%
Group C	Moderate labor shortage	3.0 to 5.9%
Group D	Moderate labor surplus	6.0 to 8.9%
Group E	Serious labor surplus	9.0 to 11.9%
Group F	Excessive labor surplus	12.0 or more

^{1/} Ratio of unemployment to area's total labor force.

Background

The categories used in classifying major labor areas according to the adequacy of labor surplus represent a continuation of a system which has been in operation for over 25 years. Although modifications have been made in the system from time to time, the present labor supply categories as indicated above are basically unchanged since May 1955.

Although the system for classifying major labor areas on the basis of labor supply has been in operation for many years, the procedures used in making the labor supply classifications were changed as a result of revisions made in DMP-4B in March 1978.

Under the new system, the labor supply classifications are now done on a quarterly basis rather than monthly as was done prior to the DMP-4 revisions. As a result of this change, the classifications are now based upon the average of the area's labor force data for the 3 months comprising the most recent quarter. This may be contrasted with the previous system under which the monthly labor supply classifications were based on the area's current monthly labor force data as well as the anticipated employment and unemployment outlook over the next 2 months.

The previous system also took account of temporary and seasonal changes in the labor force data in making the labor supply classifications. Under the new system, no attempt is made to analyze the factors responsible for an area's unemployment situation. Thus, the assignment of an area to a specific labor supply category reflects only the severity of the quarter's average unemployment.

Because of the changes introduced in classifying areas on the basis of labor supply, it may not be possible to compare the new labor supply classifications with historical data which have been published over the past several years.

The labor supply classifications provided in this issue cover the third quarter of 1980. These classifications are based upon the average labor force data for the months of July, August and September 1980. Following is a comparison of the labor supply classifications for the three quarters of 1980 and the last two quarters of 1979.

Labor Supply Group	Third Quarter 1980	Second Quarter 1980	First Quarter 1980	Fourth Quarter 1979	Third Quarter 1979
Total All Groups	150	150	150	150	150
Group A	0	0	0	0	0
Group B	0	0	0	2	1
Group C	32	50	62	90	94
Group D	85	72	65	50	48
Group E	22	21	19	7	6
Group F	11	7	4	1	1

Classifications of major labor areas in the third quarter of 1980 continued their downward trend. There were fewer areas in labor shortage Group C and many more in labor surplus Groups D-F. Between the second and third quarters of 1980, the number of labor areas in labor supply category C dropped more than one-third; those in Group D increased by almost one-fifth; the number in Group F increased by four areas.

Between the third quarter of 1979 and the third quarter of 1980, the number of major areas in Group C declined by almost two-thirds; the number in Group D increased by more than three-fourths. Both Group E and F showed large increases.

The third quarter of 1980 labor supply classifications plus labor force data for the 150 major labor areas and other areas are provided in the table following this section.

Labor Market Areas

A "labor market area" means a geographic area in which there is a concentration of economic activity of labor demand and in which workers can readily change jobs without changing their place of residence. Labor areas usually include one or more entire counties, except in New England where towns are considered the major geographical units.

The largest labor market areas are referred to as major labor areas. Major labor areas usually have at least one central city with a population of 50,000 or more. In most instances boundaries of major labor areas coincide with those of Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas as determined by the Office of Management and Budget in consultation with a Federal interagency committee.

Geographical boundaries of all classified areas are listed in the Employment and Training Administration publication entitled Directory of Important Labor Areas. Revisions in labor area boundaries are listed in the Area Trends.
